CHAPTER VIII.

THEIR were two roads which led from Fairview Hall to the house of the Wiltons, one by river and the other over the hills farther inland. Talbot had chosen the river road and was riding along with a light heart, forgetful of his mother and those tears which indeed she would not have shown him, and full of pleasant anticipations as to the effect of his decision upon Katharine. As he rode along in the moonlight his mind, full of that calm repose which comes to men when they have finally arrived at a decision upon some point which has troubled them, felt free to range where it would, and naturally his thoughts turned toward the girl he loved. He was getting along in life, twenty-four his last birthday, while Katharine was several years his junior. It was time to settle himself, and if he must ride away to the wars it were well, pleasant at least, to think that he was leaving at home a wife over whom he had thrown the protecting arms of his name.

Katharine would be much happier—his thoughts dwelt tenderly upon her—and the definite arrangement would be better than his tacit understanding. He would speak out that very night, never doubting the issue, and get it done with. Of course that was all that was necessary.

When she knew that he was engaged heart and soul in the cause of the Revolution she would be ready to yield him anything.

So musing the light hearted gentleman galloped along. The intervening distance was soon passed over, and Talbot found himself entering the familiar stretch of woodland which marked the beginning of the colonel's estate. Under the trees and beneath the high bank of the river the shadows deepened. Scarcely any light from the moon fell on the road. It was well therefore that our cavalier drew rein and somewhat checked the pace of his horse, advancing with some caution over the familiar yet unseen road, for just as he came opposite the land end of the pier which led out to the boat-house the animal stopped with such suddenness that a less practiced rider would have suffered a severe fall. The horse snorted and trembled in terror and began rearing and backing away from the spot. Looking down in the darkness, Talbot could barely discern a dark, bulky object lying in the road.

"Here, Dick," he called to the groom, who had stopped and reined in his own horse, apparently as terrified as the other, a few paces back of his master, and tossing his bridle rein toward him, "take my horse while I see what stopped him."

Lightly leaping to the ground and stepping up to the object before him, he bent down and laid his hand upon it, and then started back in surprise and horror. "It's a man!" he exclaimed. "Dead, yet warm still. Who can it be?" The moonlight fell upon the pebbly beach of the river a little farther out. Overcoming his reluctance, he half lifted, half carried the body out where the light would fall upon its face. This face, which was unknown to him, was that of a desperate looking ruffian, who was dressed in a soiled and tattered uniform, the coat of which was red. The man's hand tightly clasped a discharged pistol. He had been shot in the breast, for where his coat had fallen open might be seen a dark red stain about a ragged hole in his soiled gray shirt. The bullet had been fired at short range, too, for there were powder marks all about his breast. Talbot noticed these things rapidly his mind working quickly.

"Oh, Mars' Hil'ry—wha-wha's de matter? I kyarnt hol' dese hosses. Dey's sumfin' wrong, sho'ly," broke in the groom, his teeth chattering with terror.

"Quiet, man! Don't make so much noise. This is the dead body of a man, a soldier. He has been shot too. Take the horses back beyond the old tree on the little bend there. Tie them securely and come back here quickly. Make no noise. Bring the pistols from your holsters."

As the man turned to obey him Talbot glanced about in perplexity, and his

They ran at full speed toward the house, eyes fell upon a small sloop rapidly disappearing down the river under full sail in the fresh breeze which had sprung up. She was too far away now to make out any details in the moonlight, but the sight was somewhat unusual and alarming, he scarcely knew why.

"I got dem tied safe, Mars' Hil'ry!" called out the voice of the boy from the road.

"All right, Dick. We will leave this one here and try to find out what's wrong. You follow me and keep the pistols ready."

"Yes, mars'! I got dem." The man was brave enough in the presence of open danger. It was only the spiritual he feared.

They had scarcely gone ten paces farther toward the path when at the foot of it they stumbled over another body.

"Here is another one. What does it mean? See who it is, Dick."

The groom, mastering his instinctive aversion, bent down obediently and, lifting the face, peered into it. It was lighter here, and he recognized it at once.

"Hit's Mars' Blodgett, de kunnels' old sohuj man. Him got a bullet hole in de fohall, suh. Him a daid man sho'ly, an' heah is his gun by his han'," he said in an awestruck whisper.

"Blodgett! Heavens! It can't be." "Yes, suh; it's him, an' dere's anoder one ober dah. See, suh!" He laid his hand upon another body in the same uniform as the first one. This man groaned slightly.

"Dis one's not daid yet," said Dick excitedly. "He been hit ober de haid, his face all bloody. Oh, Mars' Hil'ry, dem raidahs you done tell me 'bout been heah. Mars' Blodgett done shot dat one by de river on de waf an' den hit dis one wid his musket, an' den dey done shoot Mars' Blodgett. Oh, Mars' Hil'ry, let's get out ob heah."

Talbot saw it all now—the slow and stealthy approach of the boat from the little sloop out in the river (it had disappeared round the bend, he noticed), Blodgett's quiet watch at the foot of the path, the approach of the men, Blodgett's challenge, the first one shot dead as he came up, the pistol shot which missed him, the rush of the men at the indomitable old soldier, the nearest one struck down from the blow of the clubbed musket of the sturdy old man, the second pistol shot, which hit him in the forehead, his fall across the path. Faithful unto death at the post of duty. The little drama was perfectly plain to him. But who were these raiders? Who could they be? And Katharine?

"Oh, my God!" he exclaimed, stung into quick action at the thought of a possible peril to his love. "Come, Dick, to the house. She may be in danger." "But dis libe one, Mars' Hil'ry?"

"Quick, quick! Leave him. We will see about him later."

With no further attempt at caution, they sprang recklessly up the steep path and, gaining the brow of the hill, ran at full speed toward the house. He noticed that there were no lights in the negro quarters, no sounds of the merry-making usually going on there in the early evening. Through the open windows on the side of the house he had a hasty glimpse of the disordered dining room. The great doors of the hall were open. They were on the porch now—now at the door of the hall. It was empty. He paused a second. "Katharine, Katharine!" he called aloud, a note of fear in his voice. "Where are you? Colonel Wilton?" In the silence which his voice had broken he heard a weak and feeble moan, which struck terror into his heart.

He ran hastily down the hall and stopped at the dining room door against the smoking candles in the sconces were throwing a somewhat uncertain light over a scene of devastation and ruin. The furniture of the table and the accessories of the meal lay in a broken heap at the foot of it, the chairs were overturned, the curtains torn; the great sideboard had been swept bare of its usual load of glittering silver.

At his feet lay the body of a man in the now familiar red uniform, blood from a ghastly sword thrust clotted about his throat, the floor about his head being covered with ominous stains. A little farther away on the floor near the table there was the body of another man in another uniform, a naked sword lying by his side. He had a frightful looking wound on his forehead, and the blood was slowly oozing out of his coat sleeve, staining the lace at his left wrist. Even as he looked the man turned a little on the floor, and the same low moan broke from his lips. Talbot stepped over the first body to the side of the other.

My God, it's Seymour! he said. He knelt beside him, as Katharine had done. "Seymour," he called, "Seymour!" The man opened his eyes slowly and looked vacantly at him.

"Katharine!" he murmured. "What of her? Is she safe?" asked Talbot in an agony of fear. "Raiders—prisoners," continued Seymour brokenly in a whisper, and then feebly murmured, "Water, water!"

"Here, Dick, get some water quickly! First hand me that decanter of wine," pointing to one which had fortunately escaped the eyes of the marauders. He lifted Seymour's head gently and with a napkin which he had picked up from the floor wiped the bloody face, washing it with the water the groom quickly brought from the well outside.

Then he poured a little of the wine down the wounded man's throat, next slit the sleeve of his coat and saw that the scarcely healed wound in the arm had broken out again. He bandaged it up with no small skill with some of the other neglected table linen, and the effect upon Seymour of the stimulant and of these ministrations was at once apparent. With a stronger voice he said slowly:

"Dummore men—Captain Johnson—colonel a prisoner—Katharine also—God grant—no harm intended!"

"Hush, hush! I understand. But where are the slaves?"

"Terrified, I suppose—in hiding."

"Dick, see if you can find any of them. Hurry up. We must take Mr. Seymour back to Fairview tonight and report this outrage to the military commander at Alexandria. Oh, that I had a boat and a few men!" he murmured. Katharine was gone. He would not tell his story tonight. She was in the hands of a gang of ruffians. He knew the reputation of Johnson and the motives which might actuate him. There had been a struggle it was evident; perhaps she had been wounded, killed. Agony! He knew now how he loved her, and it was too late.

Presently the groom returned, followed by a mob of frightened, terror-stricken negroes, who had fled at the first advent of the party. Talbot issued his orders rapidly. "Some of you get the carriage ready. We must take Lieutenant Seymour to Fairview Hall. Some of you go down to the landing and bring up the bodies of three men there. You go with that party, Dick. Phoebe, you get this room cleared up. Hurry, stir yourselves! You are all right now. The raiders have gone and are not likely to return."

"Why, where is Master Philip, I wonder? Was he also taken?" he said suddenly. "Have any of you seen him?" he asked of the servants.

"He done gone away fishin' wid Mars' Bentley," replied the old butler, pausing, "and dey ain't got back yit, tank de Lawd, but I spec em ev'y minute, suh."

THE EXODUS BEGINS

Indiana Republican Leaders Turning Their Faces Chicagoward.

Indianapolis, June 13.—The exodus of Republicans to the national convention at Chicago will begin this week. Harry S. New, national committeeman, and several other prominent Hoosiers are already there. Chairman Goodrich, Joe B. Keating, Harry Starr, Congressman Hemenway and other members of that coterie who are known as the Fairbanks leaders are going Wednesday. The national committee will have a meeting that day. The big crowd of Indians will move toward Chicago about Friday and Saturday, as the delegation will not have a meeting until Monday morning. Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge will, it is understood, go to Chicago about Friday night. Governor Durbin will attend the Grand Army meeting a part of the week and will probably land in Chicago Saturday afternoon. J. Frank Hanly, nominee for governor, Secretary of State Storms, Auditor D. E. Sherrier, Union Banner Hunt and Congressman James E. Watson have reserved headquarters at the Hotel Lexington and will be there Sunday. Nearly every party leader of prominence in the state will attend the convention.

The Republicans of the Fourth district will probably not hold their congressional convention until the first of September. W. E. Springer of Elizabethtown, the district chairman, who has been here talking over the situation, says that they are in no hurry in the Fourth about the congressional convention. The district is Democratic by from three to four thousand, and so the best the Republicans can do is to cut down the majority. Anderson Percifield of Nashville, Brown county, will be the nominee and he expects to make a vigorous campaign. Springer says the Fourth will have two Republican members in the next legislature. He expects to see his party carry Bartholomew and Jefferson counties. Hugh T. Miller, the nominee for lieutenant governor, represented Bartholomew last session, winning by a narrow margin. The county is normally Democratic. In Jefferson county there will be the old fight over again, as the Democrats have nominated Joe Cravens of Madison, a popular man, who overcame the Republican majority of 1,200 two years ago. Cravens is confident of winning again.

It was rumored today that Mayor Fogarty of South Bend may withdraw from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor. Back of this rumor there was another that several of the labor leaders are jealous of Fogarty's good standing as a candidate and that they have let the party leaders know that he is persona non grata to them, although he is a union man. In turn it is said that the party leaders have hinted to Fogarty in a diplomatic way not to be misunderstood that he had better retire from the center of the political stage. Fogarty had started an aggressive canvass and was favorably received, but it is the belief here now that his name will not go before the state convention. The opinion is growing that a strong effort will be made to induce Hugh Dougherty of Bluffton to accept the nomination. He is due here tomorrow when it is expected that he will make a public statement.

To Boost Taggart's Boom.

Indianapolis, June 13.—A well-informed politician here was authority for the statement today that the Democratic leaders in Indiana don't want the vice presidential nomination to come to them this year for fear that it will lessen Thomas Taggart's chances of becoming national chairman. If the state should have a place on the ticket it might be pointed out that it would be advisable to strengthen the party by taking the national chairman from another section. Now it is being said that Taggart should be made national chairman so that the party may be strengthened in Hoosierdom. It looks now as if hosts of Indiana Democrats are going to the St. Louis convention for the purpose of boosting Taggart. It is very likely that there will be between 2,000 and 3,000 Indiana men there, although word has been received that there will be but 120 tickets for this state.

Layman's Distinguished Honor. Princeton, N. J., June 13.—For the first time in the history of Princeton University a layman yesterday delivered the baccalaureate address, the honor being conferred on President Woodrow Wilson at the request of the students.

BIG NAVAL BATTLE

Is Said to Have Taken Place in Harbor of Port Arthur.

UNCONFIRMED REPORT

It Is Rumored in St. Petersburg That Two Russian and Four Japanese Ships Were Sunk.

This May Be Based on Admiral Skrydloff's Recent Cruise From Vladivostok.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Rumors are in circulation here to the effect that a great naval battle has taken place off Port Arthur, in which two Russian and four Japanese battleships were sunk. No confirmation of the rumor can be obtained.

Hai Cheng, Manchuria, June 11.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A flanking movement of the Japanese around the Russian left from Feng Wang Cheng June 9 was repulsed with a loss of two whole battalions.

A large Japanese force moved out in the morning along the Feng Wang Cheng and Hai Cheng road. The Russians had a force strongly posted in a ravine thirty miles southwest of Mai Cheng. The Japanese were preceded by two battalions, who walked into the Russian ambushade. They received a murderous rifle and artillery fire at close range and were wiped out, only one or two escaping.

The main Japanese force, which was greatly superior to the Russian force, tried to outflank the Russians, who drew off without losing a man. The Japanese, closing in, found the ravine vacant, save for their own dead.

Didn't Stay Out Long.

St. Petersburg, June 13.—Vice Admiral Skrydloff states that on June 7 he went within thirty miles of Port Arthur with the Vladivostok fleet and there ran into a fog. He found several Japanese torpedo boats and two battleships, which attacked him fiercely and inflicted some damage. The Russians returned the fire, but as none of the Port Arthur ships appeared, Vice Admiral Skrydloff returned to Vladivostok.

Heavy Russian Losses.

Tokio, June 13.—The military commission assigned to bury the Russian dead in the battle of Nan Shan hill at Kinohu May 26 has presented its final report. It was found that ten Russian officers and 664 men who fell in the battle had been carefully buried and thirty men were buried by the outposts, making the total number of killed left behind by the Russians 704.

Heavy Japanese Losses.

Liao Yang, June 13.—Ensign Marloff, who has returned from the battle of Salmatza, fought on June 7, says that the Japanese lost about 300 men. Reports of the Siyuen fight of June 8 say that the Japanese lost 100 killed and the Russians one killed and twenty-one wounded, including two officers.

Navy Finds Work.

Tokio, June 13.—Rear Admiral Togo reports that a part of the fleet bombarded the west coast of the Liao Tung peninsula near Kai Chau and drove back a military train that was approaching southward. No trains have been seen since.

After Turkish Concessions.

Washington, June 13.—One or more of the American men-of-war now assembled in Mediterranean waters, it is possible, after their service at Tanager is concluded, may go as far east as Turkey. Officials decline to say just what the program of the administration is as to the future movement of the vessels in this regard, but do say that the cruise in the Mediterranean of some of the vessels will be extended eastward, and the inference is given that they may touch at some Turkish port. The United States is aiming to secure for certain institutions and missions in Turkey the same privilege that the government of that country grants to the missionary and educational institutions of other countries.

Fatal Mistake or Grocer.

Kansas City, June 13.—A mistake of a grocer in filling a customer's jug with gasoline when vinegar was asked for, resulted in an explosion at the home of Antone Schoen in this city last night which caused the death of Mrs. Schoen and injury to three others.

Argentine's New President.

Buenos Ayres, June 13.—Manuel Quintana has been elected president of the republic.

THE LATEST COMBINE

Is Said to Contemplate Control of Nation's Mineral Output.

New York, June 13.—It is said that announcement will soon be made of a combination of mining interests of America with John D. Rockefeller at its head. The capital of the merged companies, it is said, will be $2,500,000,000, and the purchase is to control the mineral output of the United States with the possible exception of the Calumet and Hecla copper mine in Michigan.

SUDDEN DEATH

Overtook Abner McKinley at His Home at Somerset.

Somerset, Pa., June 13.—Abner McKinley, brother of the late president, was found dead in a chair in his home. His death came without warning, even to his colored servant, who slept in his room. Mr. McKinley's death was due to Bright's disease, which developed three years ago. The body will be taken to Canton for burial beside his father and mother in Westlawn cemetery. The widow and other members of the family will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Ida S. McKinley, widow of the late president.

Mr. McKinley was the last of four brothers, all of whom met sudden or violent deaths. James McKinley died suddenly of apoplexy on a train near Newcastle, Pa. David McKinley was similarly stricken in San Francisco and the late president died by an assassin's hand at Buffalo.

Mob Feared in Ohio.

Canton, O., June 13.—Clifford Boylan, twenty-four years of age, is dying at the hospital and William H. Harrier and Daniel Fitzgerald were shot and cut and bruised as the result of a fight between negroes and white men after a ball game Sunday. Seventeen negroes were arrested, their confinement being necessary, the authorities believe, for the suppression of possible violence by Boylan's friends, who are greatly incensed over his injuries. Policemen have been instructed to arrest every negro that appears on the scene of the trouble. Should Boylan die his death may be avenged by his friends, but the city officials have prepared for any possible outbreak of the mob spirit.

Dundonald Talked Too Freely.

Ottawa, Ont., June 13.—There will be a meeting of the cabinet today to deal with the case of Lord Dundonald. If Dundonald is not recalled at once by the British government his appointment will be canceled. In a speech at Montreal Lord Dundonald charged a cabinet officer with allowing political considerations to figure in militia appointments. When asked if he had been correctly quoted Lord Dundonald wrote a letter to the minister of militia reaffirming the charges.

Blow at Sympathetic Strike.

Chicago, June 13.—In order to free themselves from the yoke of sympathetic strikes, which their leaders have determined menace their progress, all the union butchers affiliated with the Chicago Packing Trades Council have withdrawn from that body. The butchers, who belong to the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, number about 22,000 men in the Chicago packing houses alone.

Won Rich Race.

Paris, June 13.—Edmond Blanc's day colt Ajax by Flying Fox-Amie Sunday won the grand prix de Paris of $40,000, distance about one mile and seven furlongs, this stable thus accomplishing the rare feat of carrying off three great events of the year, the prix de Diane (the French equivalent of the English Oaks), the prix du Jockey Club (the French equivalent of the English Derby), and the grand prix.

President of Peru.

Lima, Peru, June 13.—Jose Pardo has been elected president of the republic.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Quinta Elin has been elected president of the Argentine Republic. New York is for Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidential nomination if he will accept. Five persons were drowned by the wrecking of the Ontario Navigation Company's steamer, Canada, in the St. Lawrence river.

A close follower of the German Emperor says: "The story of Emperor William's ill health are all lies, hatched by financial cliques for their own purposes."

An Italian engineer has invented an instrument which he calls the telegraphograph and which will produce in print all conversations held over the telephone.

Abner McKinley, brother of the late President, is dead at his home at Somerset, Pa., of Bright's disease. His death was sudden, he befell dead in his chair.

Alexander Dowie could find accommodation in none of the London hotels, all the landladies fearing a repetition of the riotous demonstrations which marked his previous stay in that city.

STOMACH BITTERS

BITTER FIGHT PROMISED

The Illinois Democrats Will Not Get Through Without a Struggle.

Springfield, Ill., June 13.—A large number of delegates have arrived and the Democratic state convention Tuesday promises to bring about a bitter fight. Mayor Carter H. Harrison, J. P. Hopkins of Chicago, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, and the Hearst followers will have a contest for control of the organization. The Hearst delegates are overwhelmingly in control, and it seems that they will have the dictation in the state central committee.

J. P. Hopkins will likely be a candidate for temporary chairman, and if he is not acceptable to the Hearst followers the name of Frank J. Quinn of Peoria will be suggested. The central committee meets today to transact routine business, and the first squabble of the convention will be experienced. Harrison, Hopkins and Burke of Chicago came in with their delegations on the special trains early this morning.

Fire Fighters Handicapped.

New York, June 13.—Thirty firemen were temporarily overcome by tobacco smoke and the fumes from alcohol while fighting a fire in Holtz's cafe in Broadway. The fire was confined to the sub-cellar, in which liquors and cigars were stored, and the fumes and the dense smoke from the burning cigars hindered the firemen to such an extent that they were compelled to work in two-minute relays. The damage to the restaurant was $100,000.

Filipinos at Washington's Tomb.

Washington, June 13.—The members of the honorary board of Philippine commissioners visited the tomb of George Washington Sunday as the guests of the United States navy. Assistant Secretary Darling acting as host. The commissioners left for Philadelphia this morning in continuation of their tour of the country.

Cutting Down Expenses.

Susquehanna, Pa., June 13.—The Erie Railroad company has discharged 10 per cent of its working force, or 108 men, from its shops in this place. Like discharges were made in all the shops on the system. This is the second discharge of 10 per cent within thirty days. The company is reducing expenses in all directions.

"To say a pleasant word to anyone was almost impossible."

"I was troubled with female weakness for eight years, and suffered more than I can tell," writes Mrs. Gust. Moser of Grand, Deerledge Co., Mont. "My disposition was affected to such an extent that to say a pleasant word to anyone was almost impossible."

"I had two operations performed by one of the most skilled surgeons of the West, but did not get relief. Then, against my doctor's strict orders, I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and also followed the advice given in the Common Sense Medical Adviser."

"I continued this treatment for three months, and to-day am as healthy and well as a woman can be. I cannot thank Doctor Pierce enough for his kind letters to me."

Womanly diseases, as a rule, spoil the "disposition," because of the extreme nervousness and suffering they cause. Happiness as well as health is restored to the woman whose diseased condition is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

After eight years of suffering and two fruitless operations, three months' use of "Favorite Prescription" restored Mrs. Moser to perfect health. This great remedy for woman's ills, establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

The Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps if paid by mail only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Township Primary Election.

Notice is hereby given to the republicans of Jackson township, Jackson county, Indiana, that the republican township primary election will be held Saturday, June 18, 1904, on which date a candidate for township trustee and a candidate for township assessor will be nominated.
By order of the township committee,
C. D. BILLINGS, Chairman.

Republican Primary.

All candidates for township offices must hand their names to the chairman C. D. Billings not later than 4 p. m. Tuesday June 14, 1904, so that they may be placed on the ballots.

There will be two polling places for the primary election to be held June 18 as follows:

North of B. & O. S-W. railroad, at the Masonic building next door to the postoffice. South of B. & O. S-W. railroad at H. P. Miller's office on Walnut street.

C. D. BILLINGS, Chairman.

MANY old time readers of the Indianapolis Journal missed the Sunday Journal yesterday. It will be some time yet before they can get accustomed to any other paper.

THE Jackson township republican primary election will be held next Saturday, June 18. A candidate for trustee and a candidate for assessor are to be nominated. The republicans should keep this in mind and get out that day and vote.

OFF COURSE the tariff reformers still proclaim that the protective tariff interferes with our foreign trade, and that the Dingley law is especially obnoxious for this reason, but the actual business of the country shows that the exports are constantly growing just the same.

MR. BRYAN says he defers until after the St. Louis convention any statement he may have to make as to what course he will pursue in the campaign and at the polls. In this the Nebraskan describes the mental attitude of many in his own party. Whatever this one may do, unquestionably there are thousands of democrats who will not support such a candidate and such a platform as the reorganizers now suggest. And why should they? They tied themselves up to Bryan's theories in 1896 and 1900 and said they believed them sincerely. They can not consistently tie themselves up now to Parker, who is Wall Street's candidate.

POLICE MAKE A RAID.

Arrests Made at a House of Bad Repute.

There was a disturbance over on Meyer street Saturday night at a house of ill repute that caused the police to be summoned. There were some arrests there, some more Sunday and still others today. Two or three women pleaded guilty and were fined $5 and costs and one of them being unable to make settlement was taken to jail. Two or three young men involved here, or will make settlement with the city court—$10 and costs in each case.

The word has gone out that the city is to be purged of these disreputable places and the quicker it is done the better for the community.

CINCINNATI SHUT OUT.

Reds Take Another Game Sunday Afternoon.

The game yesterday afternoon between the Seymour Reds and the Macdon Athletic Club team, of Cincinnati resulted in a shut-out for the visitors. The score was 9 to 0.

The visitors were three men short and had to "fill in" after they got here, which they claimed was responsible for the poor showing made. Any way they played loose ball and made a poor showing against the Reds. Walker and Clegg composed the battery for the home team. Quite a crowd witnessed the game.

THE COUNTRY CLUB.

New Social Organization Has Leased the Peter Cabin and Lake.

The Country Club composed of citizens of this city, was organized Saturday. The object of the Club is to indulge in summer outings and for this purpose the Peter Cabin and Lake, located north of the city, has been leased by the Club. Improvements will be made at once and the place will be exclusively occupied by the members of the Club.

The officers for the present year are: J. J. Peter, president, J. F. Shiel, secretary and George Peter, treasurer. The membership of the Club numbers twenty-five.

Children's Day Exercises.

At several of the Seymour churches the Sunday schools observed children's day yesterday and gave good programs. On these programs the children had the principal places and acquitted themselves creditably. There is much value attached to children's day in the churches and the results are always good. It does those who are not children good to be present, and there were a great many adults out to these exercises yesterday.

Gillespie Wants Release.

James Gillespie, charged with the murder of his twin sister, was taken from Rising Sun to Lawrenceburg where Judge Downey will hear argument on the motion to admit him to bail. It is believed that the court will order him back to jail.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Monkey Artist

One day the Monk his camera
Into the jungle took
To get some photographs to paste
Within his picture book.

He took the Lion and the Lamb
Together at their tea,
Both eating from a pot of jam,
As here you plainly see.

BOTH EATING FROM A POT OF JAM.

He took the Elephant, who played
The part of circus clown,
There standing in the jungle shade
On his head upside down.

He took the Snake, who juggled plates
Upon his tail, you know,

One on the Professor.

Once upon a time Professor Wilson of Edinburgh wrote on the blackboard in his laboratory:
"Professor Wilson informs his students that he has this day been appointed honorary physician to the queen."

In the course of the morning he had occasion to leave the room, and found on his return that a student had added to the announcement the words:
"God save the queen."—London Sketch.

Accommodating.

The buzzards enjoy the same "sacredness" in the New river district of West Virginia as they do in tropical countries. A breaker boy was brought before a squire in a coal mining town on the charge of having killed one of the only scavengers of that country. After severely reprimanding the boy the old squire, who was a German said: "I fine you $10!"

"I ain't got that much," replied the boy.

"Den I fine you $5!"

"Yell, how much haf you got?"

"Three dollars and seventy-five cents."

"All right; den I fine you $3.75!"

WOODMEM MEMORIAL.

Large Turn-Out Sunday Afternoon.

Nearly 300 members of the M. W. A. took part in decorative day as observed by the local camp Sunday afternoon. They gathered at their lodge room where an appropriate address was made by City Judge F. W. Wesner.

Then forming in line they marched to Riverview cemetery headed by the Seymour Military Band. At the cemetery the ritualistic services were given by C. W. Burkart. Following this ceremony an ax in floral design was placed on the graves of Modern Woodmen. Four members of the M. W. A. are buried at Riverview—Oliver Elliott, O. B. Shank, George Meyer and Orville Walkup.

Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health:

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.
Mrs. John Owen, corner of Beech and Jackson streets says: "I suffered dreadfully from back and kidneys and there were pains in my back and kidneys and there were pains in my head. I doctored and doctored but received no permanent benefit. My kidneys were out of order, the secretions were annoying and my rest was much disturbed at night. I found that my heart was being affected as time went by. On learning of Doan's Kidney Pills sold by C. W. Milbourn, I procured a box. Although I had little expectation of finding relief. I was more than gratified when I found they promptly benefited me, relieved me of pain in my back, strengthened the kidneys and banished the annoyance from the secretions."

WENT TO BOTTOM

Canadian Line Steamer Came In Collision With a Collier.

FIVE PERSONS PERISH

More Than a Hundred On Board but All Save Small Number Succeeded In Escaping.

Disaster on St. Lawrence Between Quebec and Montreal Occurred Just at Dawn.

Montreal, June 13.—The Richelieu & Ontario Navigation company's steamer Canada, bound from Quebec for Montreal, came into collision with the Dominion Coal company's collier Cape Breton, six miles below Sorel early Sunday. Twenty minutes later the Canada went to the bottom. At the time of the collision there were 110 people on board the Canada. Five were lost; the others were rescued.

Those who perished were: Alfred Thibault, ticket agent of the company at Quebec, and his two sons, aged twelve and fifteen; Purser Bonnettero of the Canada; a man named Brunet, of Sorel, is missing, and it is supposed that he perished.

The collision occurred just as dawn was breaking. The Cape Breton lay at the entrance of the Lake St. Peter channel waiting for daylight, so as to find her way through. She was getting under way when the Canada, making for Sorel at full speed, came into view. Just what the collision was due to and who is responsible for it has not yet been determined. For the officers of the Canada decline to talk, but from the statements given out it would appear that the Cape Breton had not got headway on enough to answer her rudder, and that she swerved across the path of the passenger boat, her bow striking the Canada just forward of the paddle-box on the starboard side and tearing its way half through.

Then the Cape Breton swung clear and the two steamers came alongside one another. The shock of the collision aroused the sleeping passengers. The Canada at once began to settle, and as the Cape Breton did not appear to be seriously damaged the passengers were hurriedly transferred to that steamer. In the excitement some of the passengers jumped overboard and were picked up by boats from the Canada and the Cape Breton, but a great majority of those on board did not become excited, while the discipline shown by the crew of the Canada was excellent.

Twenty minutes later, when the Canada went down alongside the Cape Breton, resting on her side in the mud, all the passengers who could be found had been transferred. Thibault and his two sons occupied a stateroom near where the Cape Breton's bow entered the Canada, and it is supposed that they were killed in their berths. The body of the father was recovered later in the day, but the remains of the two sons have not been found.

Bonnettero, the purser, was seen after the collision, making his way to his quarters on the lower deck with the intention of saving his cash and records, and it is supposed that he perished in the attempt. Brunet was a second-class passenger and no one saw him after the collision.

body will be placed in the receiving vault at Rock Creek cemetery. The family has received hundreds of messages of condolence, including one from President Roosevelt, which read: "Pray accept my profound sympathy." Similar sentiments were expressed by the members of the cabinet, the justices of the supreme court, Admiral Dewey and others.

A Fool and a Gun.

ALL THE STATES AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Many Beautiful Pavilions and Pretentious Buildings Show Forth the Enterprise of American Commonwealths.

A beautiful city has grown up among the trees on the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis. It has nothing to do with the immense exhibit palaces, but is a thing apart. The houses in this new city are of various styles of architecture. Some are palatial in size and appearance, while others look merely cozy and inviting. Never before have so many notable and historic buildings been constructed in one group. This new city might be called the City of the States, for the houses included in it are the state buildings at the Fair.

The city is not compact, but somewhat straggling, as befits the picturesque quality of the view. Yet there is nothing suggestive of a Stringtown-on-the-Pike about this city, for the grounds surrounding each of the houses are beautified with gardens typical of the state represented.

All the states are to be represented at the World's Fair. This means a great deal, a shining triumph for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and furnishes another illustration of the fact that this Exposition's completeness is the marvel of the age.

Fifty-one states, territories and possessions of the United States have taken the steps necessary to participate in the World's Fair on an important scale. But two states were still outside the fold at the last report, and in each of these was a well defined movement in favor of being represented at the Fair with buildings and exhibits. New Hampshire, the old home state, and Delaware are the states referred to. In New Hampshire a fund for participation is being raised privately by patriotic citizens, so that in the event of legislative inaction this commonwealth may be represented.

The states and territories are expending over $7,000,000 in their efforts to show off to best advantage at the Exposition. This is a million and a third more than was expended at the Chicago exposition by the states. In addition to this, large cities in many states will have municipal exhibits, the funds for which are not included in these figures. The municipal exhibit idea is entirely novel. From a number of the states there will be prominent county exhibits provided by special appropriation of county funds.

This City of the States presents a picture of surpassing beauty. Nature has done much to aid in the creation of the picture. Never before has any exposition been able to grant such advantageous sites for state buildings. The buildings are situated on a plateau about seventy-five feet higher than the level ground to the north upon which stand the main exhibit palaces. There are hills and ravines here and there, enabling the landscapists to lay out the most delightful pattern of roads and terraces and lawns.

The smallest of the state buildings is that of Arizona, which stands near the southeastern entrance to the grounds. One of the largest is that of Missouri, from the dome of which it is said that perhaps the very finest view of the Exposition may be enjoyed. This building is a palace in the Italian renaissance architecture, built at a cost of $105,000. Near by is the reproduction of the Cabildo at New Orleans, in which the Louisiana Purchase transfer ceremonies took place—Louisiana's state building. Ohio has a clubhouse of highly ornate design, in the architecture of the French renaissance. Illinois is prominent with a most pretentious structure, with wide verandas and a commanding cupola.

A description of each of the state buildings, with any detail, would more than fill a newspaper page. It is only possible here to hint at some of the interesting structures. California, for instance, has reproduced in exact size the famous old La Rabida Mission. Connecticut presents a replica of the Sigourney residence at Hartford, home of the poetess Lydia Huntley Sigourney in her time. This building is said to be the finest specimen of purely colonial architecture now standing. The New Kentucky Home, from the Blue Grass State, is a handsome clubhouse that would make some of the mansions along Fifth avenue, New York city, look insignificant. Beauvoir, the quaint old house which Jefferson Davis owned and occupied for many years, is reproduced by Mississippi. Its wide verandas or galleries give it a most inviting appearance. Washington's headquarters at Morris-town, N. J., are reproduced by New Jersey. Virginia contributes Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson.

The state of Washington contributes a structure of unique design. It is called the Wigwam, five stories high, built of wood from Washington forests. The building is octagonal, with gigantic diagonal timbers rising from the ground and meeting in an apex ninety feet in the air, above which is built an observatory, from which a splendid view of the Exposition may be had. An elevator will carry visitors to the observatory.

New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Arkansas, Colorado, West Virginia, Indiana, Wisconsin, Texas and many other states are represented by buildings which cannot fail to arouse admiration. The Texas building is in the shape of a five pointed star, an appropriate idea for the big Lone Star State. Iowa has a magnificent mansion, with classic porticoes and a central tower containing an observatory chamber. Kansas, Indian Territory and Oklahoma each uphold the growing reputation of the southwest for enterprise and fertility of resources.

TESTIMONIAL.

MESSES. WATSON & CO., Indianapolis, Ind., Agents. March 1, 1904.
Dear Sirs:—Replying to your query as to whether I am pleased with the P. P. lighting system which you installed for me fifteen months ago, I will say that it has never given me one minute's trouble nor one dollar's expense. It gives the best light I ever saw for interior use. The actual rays are of such a character as to make it very desirable when the perfectly natural colors of objects are to be distinguished without confusion.

As to cost of maintenance, I think my experience, based upon close observation, will warrant the statement that it is under $80 per annum, and our store is open every day in the year until 11 o'clock p. m., except on Sunday, one hour less. Under the same condition, and with the most approved facilities for the distribution of light, our bills for illuminating gas were about $200 per year, and for electric light (arcs) about $400 to $420 per annum, and at no time have we had more than one half the light we now have.

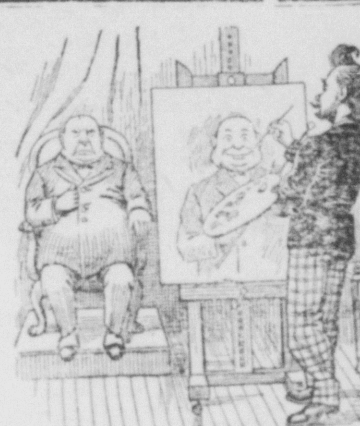

I am particularly pleased with the light, and the fact that it is so economical makes it the more desirable.

As you can readily figure, I paid for my apparatus and cost of light in about four or five months. Yours truly, R. I. EADS.

HEALTH, MORALS, PUBLICITY

Newspaper Publicity Affords Protection to Public.

The Indianapolis Board of Health attempted to fool the public by failing to report the number of cases of typhoid fever in that city. But it required newspaper publicity to bring the officials and the public to realize the necessity of guarding against the progress of the disease among the people.

Publicity is the only preventive known to be sure in all cases for the protection of the public.

In Indianapolis it incited the people to boil the water before using, and to take extra precautions in cleanliness of premises and persons. The good effect is being noted.

In criminal courts it is more dreaded by violators of the law than is the sentence of the court or the fine imposed.

In business and social affairs it is most sought when favorable comment can be indulged; and most dreaded when the facts warrant unfavorable conclusions.

Newspaper publicity is what is most essential to the preservation of a community's social and sanitary interests, and it is offensive only to those whose conduct conflicts with the law—and the law is the rule by which the people are intended to be protected against the unruly.—Bloomington World.

NOT SPRUNG

out of shape—never weak nor wobbly—never creak nor squeak. Victor No. 1 are built to wear. Some springs are just built to sell.

Each one of wire has its individual point of support on a patented cross-wire foundation. The smaller end of the spiral being rigidly connected to two cross-wires in such a manner that the coil cannot be depressed below these supports, or twisted to one side or the other.

This insures a uniform level mattress surface. Also, as the separate springs cannot touch each other or the various coils of each spring rub together when compressed, there is absolute freedom from noise.

Do not buy any other springs until you see these, and do not buy these until you find that they are all we say. Guaranteed for five full years.

Scrofula manifests itself in many ways. Swelling of the glands of the neck and throat, Catarrh, weak eyes, white swelling, offensive sores and abscesses, skin eruptions, loss of strength and weakness in muscles and joints.

It is a miserable disease and traceable in almost every instance to some family blood taint. Scrofula is bred in the bone, is transmitted from parent to child, the seeds are planted in infancy and unless the blood is purged and every atom of the taint removed Scrofula is sure to develop at some period in your life.

100 South 5th Street.

Remedy equals S. S. S. as a cure for Scrofula. It cleanses and builds up the blood, makes it rich and pure, and under the tonic effects of this great Blood Remedy, the general health improves, the digestive organs are strengthened, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. MR. COTTON'S WORK. He Has Demonstrated His Efficiency as Superintendent of Public Education.

State Superintendent F. A. Cotton is well and favorably known to the educational people of the state, and has also a wide acquaintance with the general public. Mr. Cotton is still a young man. He was born in Johnson county and received his early training in one of the first township graded schools established in the state. He taught in the schools of Henry county and spent several terms in the State Normal School. He was elected County Superintendent of Henry county and was regarded as one of the most progressive superintendents in the state. He was Deputy State Superintendent for six years, four years under David M. Geeting and two under Frank L. Jones. He gave up this office to do some work which he had long contemplated. He entered Butler college and took his bachelor's degree. Then he went at once to the University of Chicago and took his master's degree. During these years he placed special stress upon educational problems, and his wide experience in school work made this study very profitable. As a result he came to the office in March, 1903, admirably equipped to direct the educational work of the state. He set for himself a high standard of excellence and mapped out the work he hoped to accomplish. Mindful of the great advance that had been made by his predecessors, he proposed to do his work so well that at the end of his term he would leave the educational affairs of Indiana not only as good as he found them, but better. So far he has made good what he proposed to do. He is interested in every phase of education. He proposes that every boy and girl in the state shall have a chance at education and that city, town and country children shall have equal opportunity. He proposes that the profession of teaching shall be put upon a higher plane. He has done everything possible to have the state creditably represented at the St. Louis fair, and it is believed that visitors will find a splendid exhibit.

Mr. Cotton is a man of tireless energy and has led a strenuous life during his present term. He knows the needs of the state and he knows how to do things. With all this the best thing that can be said of Mr. Cotton is that he is genuine. Those who know him recognize in him a man to whom educational interests in Indiana can safely be trusted.

Brain Growth. Brain development is found by Professor Seggel of Munich to have two periods of acceleration, from ten to eleven and from seventeen to eighteen in girls and from twelve to thirteen and nineteen to twenty in boys. At the period of most rapid increase in height, from twelve to fourteen years, the growth of the brain is less than one-hundredth that of the body, but at seventeen to nineteen it grows one-thirtieth as fast and at twenty reaches one-seventh of the body growth.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out. You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

Two Sizes, 50 Cents and $1.00.
